

The American public should be protected from unrequested solicitation in the home. If we value family, privacy and the home there should be no question of allowing telemarketers to invade my home via the phone line. If I want any of their products or services, I know how to find them. The federal law needs to be more strict. Even Wisconsin's no call list could be toughened. Please advocate for the individual and the family in this matter.